Ever wonder why our world is undergoing such dramatic changes? Why tensions exist both on a personal, national and global level? Why cameras are everywhere? Are you even aware of the number of cameras capturing your image wherever you go on a daily basis, that you're being potentially "watched" most likely far more than you realize? If you're old enough, you know this is not the same world of only thirty years ago. The world of sixty years ago is so vastly different from today's world it would be unrecognizable to the youth of today in values, ethics, technology, family structure, routine, recreation. Are you also aware that the next few decades will bring even more changes? That by the end of the century this world won't even resemble that of ten years ago? Why so many changes? Why?

It's all about numbers. Yes, numbers. Would you think there would be any other answer coming from a numerologist? As simple as this may seem, all things can be reduced to numbers because numbers are nothing more than labels for invisible, gravity-like energy fields, divine ciphers describing circumstances, events, attitudes, conditions, political systems - everything. Numbers are also God codes, one way He speaks to us in ways we can understand, if we want to spend time learning the language. Think about it for a minute. Everything is numbers and without numbers life couldn't exist. All computers exist on only two digits - 0 and 1. All banking systems are nothing but numbers. All science is numbers. We could never have put a man on the moon or sent interstellar craft [manned or unmanned] into space without numbers. There could be no music without numbers, or speech, even light and sound! This is precisely why the famous mathematician, philosopher and scientist, Pythagoras, said: "Numbers rule the universe. Everything is arranged according to number and mathematical shape." It is also because of his understanding of numbers that Dr. Albert Einstein, the greatest scientific mind of the Twentieth Century, said:

Everything is determined, the beginning as well as the end, by forces over which we have no control. It is determined for the insect as well as for the star. Human beings, vegetables or cosmic dust, we all dance to a mysterious tune intoned in the distance by an invisible piper.

Do you realize how powerful these statements from Pythagoras and Einstein are? What these two esteemed gentlemen are saying: "numbers rule the universe . . .;" "everything is determined . . .?" These are staggering statements and . . . they are absolutely true. Are you also aware that through numbers we can know the blueprint of our destiny in this life? Are you also aware that through numbers we can prove the existence of God? That's right. God can be proven with numbers. It's simple to understand. Man didn't create numbers. Man didn't create the universe. Man can't even create peace in his own household. Some power, far beyond the realm of man's comprehension, created everything. That Power, that Intelligence, we call God, a Power Einstein recognized when he said:

Everyone who is seriously involved in the pursuit of science becomes convinced that a Spirit is manifest in the laws of the universe, a Spirit vastly superior to that of man and one in the face of which we, with our modest powers, must feel humble.

All this brings us to why times are changing and have been changing so drastically over the last fifty years and why they will continue to change until the end of this century. Here's why . . .

Number Shift

Numbers have attributes and characteristics. The number One (1) rules all things Yang [male]. The number Two (2) rules all things Yin [female]. One is man. Two is woman. The number One rules logic and reason. The number Two rules intuition and emotion. One rules direct action. Two rules indirect action and reaction. One is solo, single and solitary. Two is social, together and combined. One leads. Two supports. One is fire. Two is water. One rules the sun. Two rules the moon. In simpler words, One (1) and Two (2) are direct opposites, as opposite as any two numbers of the alpha-numeric spectrum can be. This is why men don't understand women and women don't understand men. Each of their energies represent opposite ends of the polar spectrum. This is a general statement, of course. Through the beauty of the Yin/Yang symbol of the ancient Chinese Tao, we see that within the Yin is the Yang and within the Yang is the Yin. This is depicted by the black dot of the Yin occupying a place in the white hemisphere of the Yang and the white dot of the Yang occupying a place in the black hemisphere of the Yin. We also see that the two are divided by a wavy line depicting the ebb and flow of these energies, illustrating that life is not cut and dry.

So . . . back to our original question as to why the world is, and has been, undergoing such dramatic change. It's simply because we are smack dab in the middle of a massive pendulum swing between the One (1) energy of the last thousand years and the Two (2) energy of this current thousand years. This can be likened to a tidal wave pushing out the old . . . that which was Yang dominated, for that which is new, Yin dominated. It's all about circles and cycles of life. The last thousand years were devoted to male energy. This thousand years is devoted to female energy.

If you'd like to know more about what is happening during these times, please read Richard Andrew King's, The Age of the Female: A Thousand Years of Yin (richardking.net/books.htm). It explains in detail this enormous shift we're experiencing on our earth, a change of such dramatic proportions that no culture is likely to see such shifting again for thousands of years to come.
