what else is left?

2009 will be a difficult and challenging time for planet earth to say the least. The 2009 configuration features power-in-relationship issues. The Two (2) rules others and relationships. The Nine (9) rules power and dominance. It is also the universal vibration, referencing the masses and the mass consciousness, the public and the world/global community. Nine also rules the endings of cycles. The Eleven-Two (11-2) Adcap focuses on the open clashing and convergence of egos, ideals, ideologies, individuals. It also potentially involves the treacheries and deceptions of others. The Seven (7) Subcap references spiritual testing and challenges; secrecy, heartache, heartbreak, turmoil, tribulation, tears, isolation, alienation, sorrow, separation and solitude. Seven is the number of the thinker, the one who reflects, cogitates, contemplates, meditates, evaluates, analyzes, criticizes, studies, teaches, examines, separates and withdraws. Hence, 2009 will be a perfect time for "going within" and assessing life, its purpose and meaning, albeit under difficult circumstances. Why? Because there will be a convergence of egos and ideologies on a global scale - all of which will bring tension and potential chaos. In the least there will be concerns, but with this configuration the path before the world portends more severe outcomes. This may be troubling. However, wisdom underscores the truth that to be forewarned is to be forearmed. When we know of an impending storm, we cannot be blind-sided by it but rather prepare for it and therefore manage its effects more efficiently while mitigating any ensuing damage. See the following schematic.

2009- Schematic

11-2 - Addcap. Eleven is the Master Number of Aspiration and Achievement. It is highly intense and energetic, eleven times more powerful than the 1. It is filled with self, ego and personal agenda. Besides attainment, it represents war and peace, the clashing of ideals and ideologies, treacheries and deceptions, tug-o-wars, competition, others and relationship.

2 - Millennium energies representing all things Yin: females, others, relationships, competition, conflict, indirection, tension, balance, teamwork, support, war & peace, kindness, caring, interference, diplomacy and sub-surface self-interest.

9 - The universal cipher representing the macrocosm, the world, the public stage, the mass consciousness, art, broadcasting, exposure, the ending of cycles; power. Its symbol is the crown of rulership. 9 = The Grand Elemental

7 - The energy of the spirit and spiritual testing. It is the most sacred of all numbers as well as being the most internal. It rules saints and sinners. It is private, separate, secret, solitary. The opposite sides of the Seven coin are centeredness and chaos, purity and impurity, nobility and ignobility. In order to purify and redirect souls to a spiritual focus it often brings times and events marked by turmoil, trouble, tribulation, tears, alienation, suffering, sorrow and calamity. One of its main purposes is to make diamonds through heat, pressure and time. Because of its ability to deepen the spirit and psyche, it is regarded as the number of intuitives and mystics. Its symbol is the hurricane: fierce and destructive outer winds circling a perfectly calm center or eye. Hence, in mystical teachings it represents the internal movement of the soul through the 3rd Eye and into the higher hidden realms of spiritual love, life and light.

Why will 2009 be this way? It is the natural order of things, the inherent cycling of energies. Earth is smack dab in the middle of an enormous shift of millennia energies between the One and Two vibrations. This is fully discussed in The Age of the Female: A Thousand Years of Yin at www.richardking.net/books.htm. The Millennia Shift began on 31 December 1957, the first actual natal vibration to equal 2000 ( $31 + 12 + 1957 = 2000$ ). Two thousand in reduction is a Two (2), the distinguishing cipher of the Second Millennium. Interestingly, just twelve weeks before the Millennia Shift began on Tuesday, 31 December 1957, the USSR launched Sputnik into space on Friday, 4 October 1957 - a nanospeck of cosmic time. The shift from our world (represented by the One (1) began to focus on other worlds - not only the world of "others" with the inception of the space race between the United States and the Soviet Union (the two individual superpowers at the time), but the world of other celestial bodies, the moon in particular, a female body. The most intense part of the shift - the Core Millennia Shift - began on 31 January 1969 and will not be completed until 31 December 2031, a period of sixty-three years. The first date creates the first Crown Pinnacle (4th) equating to the number 2000 (day-31 plus year-1969) and the latter date creates the last Crown Challenge (4th) at the end of the 2031 calendar year (year-2031 minus day-31 = 2000). Beginning on 1 January 2032 all the souls born on planet earth will, from that moment forward, have their major numerology timelines specifically anchored in 2 energy as reflected in the Epoch, Pinnacle and Challenge components of the Life Matrix, and the Millennia Shift between the One and the Two vibrations will be complete. This is why the times in which we live are drastically dynamic and chaotically challenging - we are moving away from a thousand year period of male/yang energy (referenced by the One (1) cipher) into a thousand year period of female/yin energy (referenced by the Two (2) cipher) This One/Two conjunction involves energies that could not be more opposite and contrasting. It is really a special, unique and dynamic but trying and challenging time for the inhabitants of earth. For more on the Millennia Shift, see Chapters Two and Eight of The Age of the Female: A Thousand Years of Yin. The effective timespan of 2009, in fact any year, is actually 24 months, not 12 months. Why is this? Because each of our personal years does not begin until our birthdays. A person born on 1 January of any year will have his personal year coincide exactly with the calendar year. However, everyone else's calendar year will begin on their birthday, not the 1st of January. Using 2009 for example, a person born on 1 June will not start his 2009 until 1 June. His 2009 will terminate on the 31st of July 2010. A person born on the 31st of December will not begin his 2009 until the last day before 2010. Therefore, as one can see, it is this personal year factor that extends any calendar year for a full 24 months.

Beyond the shifting of millennia, another primary cause of the 2009 cycle being problematic is the basic nature of this plane of existence - a bipolar dimension in which the great cosmic pendulum sways, relentlessly, back and forth to forces far beyond man's ability to control. For every positive charge in this dimension, there is a negative one. Every day has its night; every up has its down, every joy has its sorrow, every pleasure its pain, every hurricane its eye and every cloud its silver lining. In such a state of constant ebb, flow and flux, maintaining one's balance is a constant struggle, which is one reason mystics call this earth plane the plane of struggle. It's impossible to have peace here because of the innate duality of this dimension. This is why Saint Charan Singh has stated: "Just live in the creation and get out of it." Truly, this dimension is no Home for the soul. For more on these spiritual issues, read Messages from the Masters: Timeless Truths for Spiritual Seekers.

Because the addcap of 2009 is an 11-2, there will be much tug-o-warring going on. The global teeter-totter will be in full rhythm. The key to managing the coming year's energies both individually and collectively will be to remain balanced and centered. These are the positive aspects of the Two and Seven respectively. In fact, the way to manage any difficulty is to concentrate on its positive polar attributes. Anyone can teeter-totter but not everyone can balance, so just because other people may be losing their balance (emotional, psychological, intellectual, spiritual) is no reason for us to do the same. Someone has to remain stable and centered in any conflict, in any chaos. It should be, must be, those individuals who have the understanding and spiritual strength to understand the situation and react accordingly. Every dramatic and challenging situation has its victims but it also has its heroes. In 2009, the stable, strong, centered and balanced ones must be the heroic ones. They must have the resolve, character and courage to help others through. If you're reading this, it most likely means you because once you know you can never not know, and now that you know, you are being called upon to be the servants of those less fortunate and less knowing than you. So . . . center yourselves, remain calm, strong, focused and resolute. Storms are transient, but sometimes they give the impression they'll never end. Just remember, "strength is the ability to endure," and "you only have to endure to conquer."

Silver/Light Linings

Every cloud has its silver lining. Every coin its flip side. Every hurricane its destructive winds and tranquil core. Without fire, pressure and time, a chunk of coal could never be transformed into a radiant and beautiful diamond, and kites rise highest against the wind, not with it (Winston Churchill). Therefore, thank God for trying times and opposing forces. They allow us to rise higher too, to become the divine diamond that we innately are. Yes, 2009 will be difficult, but its difficulty is its silver lining. The key here is that we can't miss the point, and the point is - we need to see and act on the good that lies within that which we may perceive as bad. Think of the Yin/Yang symbol of the Chinese Tao - within the black side is a white dot; within the white side is a black dot, signifying that within the one is the other, its exact opposite.

How many great accomplishments sprang from adversity? How many great people did as well? In the words of Kahlil Gibran: Out of suffering have emerged the strongest souls. The most massive characters are seared with scars. Think of the life of Helen Keller. What a tribute to humanity she was! Mark Twain said that of all the people in the world he would like to have met she was one. Napoleon was the other. And then there is Abraham Lincoln, arguably the greatest president in United States history. Talk about adversity . . . and greatness! When we open our eyes a little, even squint, we can't help but see greatness all around us in the form of people and accomplishments born from the flames of adversity.

Okay, so how do each of us manage 2009, keeping in mind that the intensities of the year will be different for everyone? The main thing is to remain balanced and centered and not let the external affairs of the world de-balance and de-center us. Everybody can teeter-totter but not everyone can balance, and anyone can go ballistic and "lose it" but the aware ones, the detached ones, will be the centered ones. The greater the chaos, the greater the opportunity for peace. Without great chaos there could never be great peace. But the mistake would be to wait for the world to have peace before each of us had peace. We need to establish balance and centeredness within ourselves first and not get involved or caught up in the transient whirling winds of the world's external drama.

Balance is simply a matter of alignment. For example, try balancing on one foot. If you have problems, just make sure your head, shoulders, hips and active knee are in alignment with the balancing foot. When this understanding of physical alignment is augmented, balance becomes easier than just "trying to balance." Reducing things down to their single and simple parts is key to success. And so it is in life. To remain balanced we have to concentrate on keeping our emotions, mind and spirit in alignment. After all, God's in charge of absolutely everything, even the chaos. It's His world, not ours. Let Him run His world. It's not our job to run it. He doesn't need us, LOL! It's egotistical to think He does. He doesn't. So we just mind our own business and stay centered. The more centered we are, the more centered our own little worlds will be. Others seeing our centeredness may well be inspired to keep their own worlds centered. Amass enough centered people acting in concert and the world would be centered. It all starts with each individual and manifests from the inside out, not the outside in. Be of a brave heart and indomitable spirit. This is part of the greatness and nobility of man and the way to negotiate the tears and fears of a transient, material and lower world.

SURVIVAL

(C) Richard Andrew King

Survival - it is the ultimate test of mortal man,
most primal instinct to understand the essence of who and what he is,
and whether he can and will endure.

Survival - it is the challenge of cowardice and courage, weakness and strength; skill and will;
it is the laying of the blade upon the fire,
the heart upon the altar,
the face before the mirror,
and the will before the hammer.

Survival - it is the ultimate test of any man
to see if he will stand or fall,
crumble or crawl, laugh or cry,
live or die;
to see if he has grace in the face of fear;
dignity and nobility in victory and defeat.

Survival is man's greatest quest
to know himself
and be counted as one who stood . . .
indomitable, unconquerable, unyielding, persevering and true to himself. . . to the end.
